Speak to a Crowded and Enthusiastic

House at the Opera House, Tuesday Afternoon.

On account of the wind and cold, the great Republican rally that was to be held at the fair grounds was held in the Opera House, Tuesday. The speakers were Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, ex-Speaker of the National House of Representatives, Hon. John D. Long, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, and Hon. John P. Swasey of Canton.

The stage was appropriately decorated with flags. The Norway band of 16 pieces was in attendance and played several selections. During the first selection the speakers and also ex-Governor Perham, A. J. Stearns, J. S. Wright and several other Republicans marched on to the stage and took their seats.

A. J. Stearns introduced Hon. John D.

Long as chairman of the meeting. Mr.

Long spoke as a citizen who is looking after his own interests and considers it a question of bread and butter for the best interests of the community. He is pleased to note the prosperity which has spread over the country under the present officials.

He compared the condition of the country to-day and what it was when he was a boy. When he was a boy in Buck-field there was one daily paper brought to the post-office, now there are over 100 delivered at the homes of farmers, and nearly all have telephones in their homes.

After speaking for a short time on some of the leading issues of the day he introduced Speaker Cannon as a man as square as a brick and honest as the sun, a great man in whose hands even the nation would be safe, not of Illinois but of the United States. Amid great applause Mr. Cannon took his place on the stage. He spoke at some length on the blessing and greatness of labor.

The men who control the destinies of the State of Maine to-day are men of labor. If it was possible for the human family to stop work and convert all the property into bread it would be consumed in three years. Organized labor is A Suggestion.

It has been suggested that it would be a good idea to have a box provided at the postoffice for the paper that now collects on the floor. This would improve the appearance of the office and make it easier for the postmaster to keep the floor looking well. Not but what the postmaster is doing his duty in this respect, but it is the custom of many people to go into the office, get their mail, open it and throw the wrappers on the floor.

GRAVEL CURED

(Philadelphia, Penn., Item.)
A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North 8th St., Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends who began to suffer indescribable miseries from stones in the bladder. An eminent physician in Philadelphia told him that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

Although disheartened, he bought a bottle of it, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle the gravel was completely dissolved and his sufferings at an end.
Mr. Neill feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N.Y., and for dis-corders of the bladder and urinary organs. He says, "It will cure any stone in the bladder." Favorite Remedy is prescribed with unfailing success for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, and nerve troubles in which it has cured many that were considered beyond the aid of medicine. All druggists, $1.

The Great Fryeburg Fire.

The fire levelled every building on the northern side of Main street, from the North Conway road, beyond the Oxford elms on to Miss Page's home. The great of the village, were also destroyed.
Many dwellings and stores across the street were threatened, but except for the loss of a few shingles and the blistering of much white paint escaped.

Several times the postoffice block roof was a flame in spots. The Congregational church spire caught fire once and the roof twice, but sturdy watchers directed dippers of water that quenched the firebrands. The roof of Henry Tarbox's residence caught fire ten or twelve times. The residences of John Hutchins, William Killy, Charles Ladd and Albert Fifield also caught fire from flying embers but were saved.

On Portland street, which extends from Main street at right angles, the tation, the fire did queer stunts. It skipped A. F. Lewis' store, J. C. Hartman's grocery store and dwelling, Charles C.
Warren's law office and E. E. Hastings' law office, on the easterly side of the street, and destroyed the next three buildings beyond—the unoccupied old Fryeburg tavern, Minnie Bradley's summer and a house owned by William Durgin and occupied by the family of Woodman Gray.

On the westerly side of Portland street the ten buildings nearest Main street were saved, but Andrew Evans' boarding house and Nathaniel Walker's dwelling were burned.

The fire started in the Oxford hotel, a handsome, four-story wooden structure with a five-story circular tower facing the village square. It had accommodations for 150 guests. It has been crowded most of the summer but the home-

OXFORD HOUSE.

ward rush had begun and only about 75 remained. Nearly all of them lost wearing apparel and some jewelry. The hotel employees, 25 in number, also lost about everything they had in the clothing line, and many of them unable to get to their rooms lost their summer's earnings.

The Oxford cost about $40,000 to build and furnish four years ago. It was run by its owner, Frank S. Plummer of Fryeburg. Its clerk was Monroe S. Clough of Boston. Both the clerk and the proprie-tor's family lost most of their personal effects.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 in the forenoon when most of the boarders were away from the hotel. Most of the servants were attending to their tasks incidental to clearing away after the morning meal. The smoke was first seen issuing from the roof, near the chimney of the L. The discovery was reported at the office and Frank Holbrook of Portland, one of the bell boys, ran to the top floor, seized a line of hose in the corridor and turned on the water at the standpipe which extended to the roof. There was too little pressure to render the hose of any great service.

A stiff breeze was blowing from the west, showering the heart of the village with burning embers.

Burning embers were wafted a mile to the Walker mills district, and set fire in the plains. A big crew of men from the mills turned out, fought the flames and got them under control, but not until an abandoned farmhouse owned by the Misses Walker was burned and other property endangered. The fire in the woods was under control at 10 o'clock in the evening. Alonzo F. Lewis, an insurance agent, while spreading wet blankets on the roof of his residence, fell to the ground. One hip was fractured.
He was taken to a Portland hospital on an evening train. The fire in the village was not under control till 4 in the afternoon. Loss $90,000.

Although the Portland firemen rendered valuable assistance, the engine was powerless because it could not be coupled on to the Fryeburg hydrants.

The Oxford House, a four story wooden structure containing 70 rooms, the Fryeburg House which was unoccupied, two millinery and dry goods stores, and twelve residences were totally destroyed.

An unsuccessful attempt to stay the progress of the fire with dynamite was made by men from a quarry the houses of Mrs. Susan Abbott and Horatio C.
Freeman being blown up, but the fire jumped over the debris to the buildings beyond.

The residences destroyed were those of Mrs. M. B. Barker, Mrs. Susan Abbott, Mrs. Eben Weeks, Tobias L. Eastman, Horatio G. Freeman, Seth W. Rife, Edward P. Weston, all on the northerly side of Main street; Minnie A. Bradley, William Durgin, Woodman Gray, A. H.
Evans and Nathaniel Walker on both sides of Portland street.

The stores burned were those of Mrs.
Mary B. Barker and Mrs. E. C. Fife who had millinery. The Fryeburg House, as Main street. The Fryeburg House, an unoccupied two story wood hotel of 20 rooms, was located on Portland street.
All buildings destroyed were of wooden construction. The roofs of many other places about town were ignited by flying brands and cinders, but were saved.

"The Oxford" was one of the finest summer houses in Maine. It was built only a few years ago by a stock company of Fryeburg people and others, after the destruction by fire of its predecessor, the equally famous old Oxford House, at a cost of over $50,000 and for the last year or two has been kept running through the winter.

It is also said that the fine summer residence of Dr. Gordon of Portland, has also fallen a victim to the flames. This house is close by the hotel and would naturally be one of the first to go. It was an old historic mansion and full of treasures of art and antiquity.

But few villages in Maine are more venerable or beautiful than Fryeburg.
Here is the old academy where Daniel Webster once taught and close by in a brick building where the county records are kept are many documents in his handwriting. The private homes in this village are all of a high class. They are surrounded by ample lawns and well kept grounds and gardens which show the thrift and prosperity of the people.

The largely as a historic center that Fryeburg is most famous. Here have occurred some of the most stirring scenes in the history of our State. It was here that the great battle of Love-wells Pond was fought in 1725, when the power of the Pequawket Indians was broken. The battlefield is close by the village and the spot was marked by a memorial stone only about two years ago. The early settlers of Fryeburg were of a high character and quality.

Fryeburg is also noted as being the home of Molly Lockett, the last of the Pequawkets. Here she lived in a cave long after the broken remnant of her tribe had gone to Canada. She was long known as the witch of Jocky Cap.

Fryeburg had its birth as an incorporated town during the darkest days of the Revolution.

Electric Railroad Up Country to Naples.

From the Brighton News.
If any reliance is to be placed in published announcements, the towns in Northern Cumberland below us, up as far as Naples, and perhaps even further up, are likely to have in the near future that great desideratum, railroad connection with the markets of the world.

The story goes that the project has attained such strength that the railroad commissioners have been asked to grant a charter and hearings will at once be ordered to advise with that court as to public requirements, practicability, etc.
The road is for freight and passenger.
Starting at Cumberland Mills, near the Maine Central station, it runs up Meadow road to Casco village, thence to Naples village, and Bridgton, the paper says That would be 30 miles to Naples, 38 if to Bridgton. It will be capitalized at $120,000, in $100 shares, and "the paper says" this has already been subscribed and the majority of it paid into the treasury. That is right, queer, since there is no chartered company, and no treasurer authorized to receive funds!

But the paper says so. The names mentioned as comprising the syndicate are Sumner O. Hancock and Richard Cook of Casco, Edward M. Mason of Raymond, Ephraim B. Jilison of Otisfield, Henry W. Evans of Denmark, Walter W.
Hamlin of Otisfield, John L. Meserve of Naples—the latter being secretary and treasurer. The heartiest subscriber to the stock is the Casco lumber king, Sumner O. Hancock. The petitioners ask for a "street railroad, to be run by electricity, compressed air, or animal power." But the latter plan is electricity, a central station, located midway to develop electricity by water-power.
The gauge is to be 4 feet 8 1/2 inches in width; standard gauge cars, hauled with engines of 100 horse power motors will

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble pays upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.
Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with the weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches arage when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is in the kidneys. And the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy.
The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

haul 12 to 16 cars three trips a day, all the year round, for freight, and for passengers a combination baggage car with smoking room, as a regular diet, but expanding as occasion demands.
The Maine Central, Boston & Maine, Portland & Worcester, and the Portland Railroad Co. are relied upon as feeders, as it is proposed to ship freight from Portland to Cumberland Mills over the steam roads mentioned and at that point take the cars onto the proposed Portland and Northern railroad.

It is also proposed to haul the freight from the towns through which the electric road is to pass to Cumberland Mills and there shift the cars onto the roads for which it is destined, thus enabling shippers in the towns to load cars and ship them direct to their destination.

The plan further contemplates the construction of stations in the different towns through which the road is to pass and make stops only at these stations the same as a steam road would do.

It is thought by the people of Naples that the home office of the proposed road will be in Naples owing to the fact that a large amount of the stock has been paid for by citizens of that town, occupied with the fact that the company was organized there.

The town of Naples has voted a loan of three per cent of its valuation as its share of the stock while the towns of Raymond and Casco have each subscribed liberally to the stock. The road is to be built largely of New York or New Jersey as there are parties standing ready to build and equip the road. As soon as the railroad commissioners act on the petition for a charter it is understood that Percy H. Richardson will commence the work of making the surveyal of the route that it will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile to build and equip such a line but it is said that the money will be forthcoming as soon as the charter is granted, and that furthermore it is hoped to commence work on the construction of the road early in the fall so that it will be in readiness to commence business early next spring.

A great project surely, of vast possibilities to this region. If the half that is told be true Northern Cumberland towns are to be congratulated.
Thirty miles of a $25,000 per mile road—and the money in hand—is surely a bonanza for this people, and they are to be congratulated, if they only get it, can run it at a small cost, and pay expenses. Ever figure annual interest account on that investment?

These statements are given in an unsigned article in the Portland Press of last week.

Surely there will be neither envy, opposition or criticism, from Northern Cumberland's biggest town, which has herself had a little experience in rail-road-talk—and building and running!
Give them the charter and location, commissioners, just as soon as they can show certified checks for the alleged subscriptions and reasonable prospect of success—with no interference with any rights already granted others.

But what as to that electric road from Waterford to Norway and Stonham, whose money was so long in the treasury—but there was not a dollar for the Italians when they had begun work—and the enterprise was abandoned?

A healthy, hearty, happy man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North 8th St., Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends.

Several years ago he began to suffer in his back and legs from a disease which he called gravel. An eminent physician in Philadelphia told him that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result, for it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

Although disheartened, he bought a bottle of it, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle, the gravel was completely dissolved and his sufferings at an end. Mr. Neill feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y., and for its cures of the bladder and urinary organs. He says: "It will effect a cure if one is possible." Favorite Remedy is prescribed with unfailing success for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, and nerve troubles in which it has cured many that were considered beyond the aid of medicine. All druggists, $1.

The Great Fryeburg Fire.

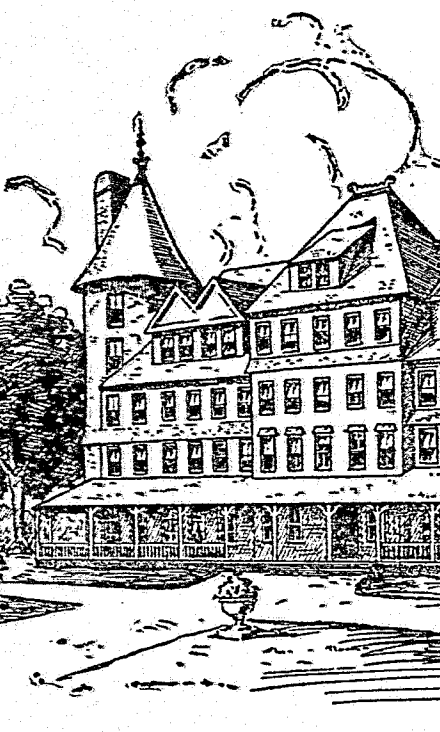

The fire levelled every building on the northern side of Main street, from the North Conway road, beyond the Oxford hotel, to Miss Page's home. The great mass of that side of the street, a pride of the village, was almost destroyed. Many dwellings and stores across the street were threatened, but except for the loss of a few shingles and the blistering of much white paint escaped.

Several times the postoffice block roof was aflame in spots. The Congregational church spire caught fire once and the roof twice, but sturdy watchmen directed dippers of water that quenched the firebrands. The roof of Henry Taylor's residence caught fire ten or twelve times. The residences of John Hutchins, William K. Lytle, Charles Ladd and Albert Field also caught fire from flying embers but were saved.

On Portland street, which extends from Main street at right angles, the memorial fountain located at their junction, the fire did queer stunts. It skipped across a Lewis' store, J. C. Hartman's grocery store and dwelling, Charles C. Warren's law office and E. E. Hastings' law office, on the easterly side of the buildings beyond—the unoccupied old Fryeburg tavern, Miss Bradley's summer and a house owned by William Dyer and occupied by the family of Woodman Gray.

On the westerly side of Portland street the ten buildings nearest Main street were saved, but Andrew Evans' boarding house and Nathaniel Walker's dwelling were burned.

The fire started in the Oxford hotel, a handsome, four-story wooden structure with a five-story circular tower facing the village square. It had accommodations for 150 guests. It has been crowded most of the summer but the homeward rush had begun and only about 75 remained. Nearly all of them lost wearing apparel and some jewelry. The hotel employees, 23 in number, also lost about everything they had in the clothing line, and many of them unable to get to their rooms lost their summer's earnings.

The Oxford cost about $40,000 to build and furnish four years ago. It was run by its owner, Frank S. Plummer of Fryeburg. Its clerk was Monroe S. Clough of Boston. Both the clerk and the proprietor's family lost most of their personal effects.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 in the forenoon when most of the boarders were away from the hotel. Most of the servants were attending to their tasks incidental to clearing away after the morning meal. The smoke was first seen issuing from the roof, near the chimney of the L. The discovery was reported at the office and Frank Holbrook of Portland, one of the bell boys, ran to the top floor, turned a line of hose in the corridor and seized on the water at the standpipe which extended to the roof. There was too little pressure to render the hose of any great service.

A stiff breeze was blowing from the west, showering the heart of the village with burning embers.

Burning embers were wafted a mile to the Walker mills district, and set fire in the plains. A big crew of men from the mills turned out, fought the flames and got them under control, but not until an abandoned farmhouse owned by the Misses Walker was burned and other property endangered. The fire in the woods was under control at 10 o'clock in the evening. Alonzo F. Lewis, an insurance agent, while spreading wet blankets on the roof of his residence, fell to the ground. One hip was fractured. He was taken to a Portland hospital on an evening train. The fire in the village was not under control till 4 in the afternoon. Loss $90,000.

Although the Portland firemen rendered valuable assistance, the engine was powerless because it could not be coupled on to the Fryeburg hydrants.

The Oxford House, a four story wooden structure containing 70 rooms, the Fryeburg House which was unoccupied, two millinery and dry goods stores, and twelve residences were totally destroyed. An unsuccessful attempt to stay the progress of the fire with dynamite was made by men from a quarry, the houses of Mrs. Susan Abbott and Horatio C. Freeman being blown up, but the fire jumped over the debris to the buildings beyond.

The residences destroyed were those of Mrs. M. B. Barker, Mrs. Susan Abbott, Mrs. Eben Weeks, Tobias L. Eastman, Horatio G. Freeman, Seth W. Fife, Edward P. Weston, all on the northerly side of Main street; Minnie A. Bradley, William Dyer, Woodman Gray, A. H. Evans and Nathaniel Walker on both sides of Portland street.

The stores burned were those of Mrs. Mary B. Barker and Mrs. E. C. Fife who kept millinery, dry and fancy goods on Main street. The Fryeburg House, an unoccupied two story wooden hotel of 20 rooms, was located on Portland street. All buildings destroyed were of wooden construction. The roofs of many other places about town were ignited by flying brands and embers, but were saved.

"The Oxford" was one of the finest summer houses in Maine. It was built only a few years ago by a stock company of Fryeburg people and others, after the destruction by fire of its predecessor, the equally famous old Oxford House, at a cost of over $50,000 and it has lasted year or two has been kept running through the winter.

It is also said that the fine summer residence of Dr. Gordon of Portland, has also fallen a victim to the flames. This house is close by the hotel and would naturally be one of the first to go. It was an old historic mansion and full of treasures of art and antiquity.

But few villages in Maine are more venerable or beautiful than Fryeburg. Here is the old academy where Daniel WEBSTER HOUSE.

Webster once taught and close by is a brick building where the county records are kept are many documents in his handwriting. The private homes in this village are all of a high class. They are surrounded by ample lawns and well kept grounds and gardens which show the thrift and prosperity of the people.

It is largely as a historic center that Fryeburg is most famous. Here have occurred some of the most stirring scenes in the history of our State. It was here that the great battle of Lovewells Pond was fought in 1725, when the power of the Pequawet Indians under the great chief Paugus was forever broken. The battlefield is close by the village and the spot was marked by a memorial stone only about two years ago. The early settlers of Fryeburg were of high character and quality.

Fryeburg is also noted as being the home of Molly Lockett, the last of the Pequawets. Here she lived in a cave long after the broken remnant of her tribe had gone to Canada. She was long known as the witch of Jocky Cap.

Fryeburg had its birth as an incorporated town during the darkest days of the Revolution.

The individual losses and amounts of insurance, as far as could be ascertained are:

Oxford hotel, loss $25,000; insurance $16,000.
Mrs. M. B. Barker's dwelling, store and stock loss $4,000; insurance $3,000.
Mrs. Susan Abbott's dwelling, loss $2,500; insurance $2,000.
Tobias L. Eastman's dwelling, loss $8,000; insurance $5,000.
Mrs. Eben Weeks' dwelling, loss $8,000; insurance $5,000.
Horatio G. Freeman's dwelling and printing office, loss $1,500; insurance $3,500.
Seth W. Fife's house and store, loss $5,000; insurance $2,000.
Edward Weston's residence, loss $2,000; insurance $2,000.
Fryeburg Tavern, loss $1,000; no insurance.
Minnie A. Bradley's summer residence, loss $10,000; insurance $8,000.

Nathaniel Walker's dwelling, loss $1,500; insurance $1,000.
William Dyer's house, loss $2,500; insurance $1,800.

Electric Railroad Up Country to Naples.

From the Bridgton News.
If any reliance is to be placed in published announcements, the towns in Northern Cumberland below us, up as far as Naples, and perhaps even further up, are likely to have in the near future that great desideratum, railroad connection with the markets of the world.

The story goes that the project has attained such strength that the railroad commissioners have been asked to grant a charter and hearings will at once be ordered to advise with that court as to public requirements, practicability, etc. The road is for freight and passenger. Starting at Cumberland Mills, near the Maine Central station, it runs up Meadow road to Casco village, thence to Naples village, and Bridgton, the paper says that would be 20 miles to Naples, 38 if to Bridgton. It will be capitalized at $120,000, in $100 shares, and "the paper says" this has already been subscribed and the majority of it paid in to the treasury.

That is right queer, since there is no chartered company, and no treasurer authorized to receive funds! But the paper says so. The names mentioned as comprising the syndicate are Sumner O. Hancock and Richard Cook of Casco, Edward M. Mason of Raymond, Ephraim B. Jilison of Otisfield, Henry W. Evans of Denmark, Walter W. Hamlin of Otisfield, John L. Meserve of Naples—the latter being secretary and treasurer. The heaviest subscriber to the stock is the Casco lumber king, Sumner O. Hancock. The petitioners ask for a "street railroad, to be run by electricity, compressed air, or animal power—but the talked plan is electricity, a central station, located midway, to develop electricity by water-power. The gauge is to be 4 feet 8 1/2 inches in width; standard gauge cars, hauled with engines of 100 horse power motors will

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the flesh, or if, when the child reaches the age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

haul 12 to 16 cars three trips a day, all the year round, for freight, and for passengers a combination baggage car with smoking room, as a regular diet, but expanding as occasion demands. The Maine Central, Boston & Maine, Portland & Worcester, and the Portland Railroad Co. are relied upon as feeders, as it is proposed to ship freight from Portland to Cumberland Mills over the steam roads mentioned and at that point take the cars onto the proposed Portland and Northern railroad.

It is also proposed to haul the freight from the town through which the electric road is to pass to Cumberland Mills and there shift the cars onto the roads for which it is destined, thus enabling shippers in the towns to load cars and ship them direct to their destinations.

The plan further contemplates the construction of stations in the different towns through which the road is to pass and make stops only at these stations the same as a steam road would do. It is thought by the people of Naples that the home office of the proposed road will be in Naples owing to the fact that a large amount of the stock has been paid for by citizens of that town, coupled with the fact that the company was organized there.

The town of Naples has voted a loan of three per cent of its valuation as its share of the stock while the towns of Raymond and Casco have each subscribed liberally to the stock. The road is to be built largely on New York capital as there are parties standing ready to build and equip the road. As soon as the railroad commissioners act on the petition for a charter it is understood that Percy H. Richardson will commence the work of making the surveys.

It is estimated that it will cost from $20,000 to $25,000 per mile to build and equip such a line but it is said that the money will be forthcoming as soon as the charter is granted, and that furthermore it is hoped to commence work on the construction of the road early in the fall so that it will be in readiness to commence business early next spring.

A great project surely, of vast possibilities to this region. If the half that is told be true Northern Cumberland towns are to be congratulated. Thirty miles of a $25,000 per mile road—and the money in hand—is surely a bonanza for these people, and they are to be congratulated, if they only get it, can run it and make it pay expenses. Ever figure annual interest account on that investment?

These statements are given in an unsigned article in the Portland Press of last week.

Surely there will be neither envy, opposition or criticism, from Northern Cumberland's biggest town, which has herself had a little experience in railroad-building and building and running! Give them the charter and location, commissioners, just as soon as they can show certified checks for the alleged subscriptions and reasonable prospect of success—with no interference with any rights already granted others.

But what as to that electric road from Waterford to Naples and Stoughton, whose money was so long in the treasury—but there was not a dollar for the Italians when they had begun work—and the enterprise was abandoned?

Prayer Meetings in M. E. Church. There are evening prayer meetings in the M. E. church, Friday and Sunday evenings of each week.

Mrs. Ruth Buck has returned from Raymond.

Geo. Adams of Poland was here last Monday.

Lima beans and sweet corn are now the order of the day.

Ruth Buck has gone to Otisfield to teach school where she taught last summer.

Carroll Strout and wife of Canton are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bela Strout.

School commenced in this district Aug. 27th, with the same teacher, Ethel Thomas. She is liked by the scholars.

Mrs. Alvin Harmon and son of Cumberland Mills are visiting his sister, Mrs. Isa Kneeland, Winnie, daughter of Isa Kneeland, is sick.

A. C. Wentworth and wife of Boston recently visited his sister, Mrs. Daniel Thompson, also his brother, J. L. Wentworth at the village.

Mrs. Mary Libby and daughter, Abbie, of Gorham are visiting her brothers, Messrs. Daniel and Jimson Thompson, also Herman Thompson.

South Waterford.

The past week being near the end of the season has been a busy one. Many of the summer visitors are leaving early in September, so much in the way of entertainment is crowded into these last days.

On Friday evening, the 24th, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noble gave a most enjoyable picnic supper on the shore of Tom Pond in which about twenty-five participated, including Dr. and Mrs. Bristow of New York, who are spending the summer at North Bridgton.

Sunday evening was enlivened by a very delightful sacred concert at the home of Mrs. Stanwood, where some most charming music was rendered by Messrs. Stone, flute, Sattels, violin, Noble, cornet and Miss Hamlin, piano.

Mrs. W. W. Watson gave a whist party on Monday afternoon, twenty-eight ladies participating and Marion Monroe winning the highest score.

Tuesday night a party of young people camped on top of Bear mountain, roasting corn for their supper and "sleeping the sleep of the just" under the stars.

Wednesday afternoon, the Bolster's Mills and the Waterford base ball teams played their sixth game for the season on the Waterford field. Score 7 to 3 in favor of Waterford.

On Thursday evening a concert of unusual excellence was given in Grange Hall for the benefit of the South Waterford Church Repair Fund. The entertainment was arranged and carried out by a ladies' committee composed of Mrs. Sattels of Plainfield, N. J., Mrs. Wood of Hyde Park, Mass., and Mrs. Plummer of Colorado, who were seconded and assisted by the ladies and young people of the village and by the performers, all of whom gladly tendered their services, rejoicing in the opportunity to work in such a worthy cause. The readings by Mrs. Wood, Alice Hamlin and Valma Young were new and interesting selections splendidly done and followed by rounds of applause. Ethel Monroe was in fine voice and rendered several solos most beautifully but especially a waltz song, "When Those Kinky Lips," with flute obligato by Mr. Stone, which fairly took the people off their feet and resulted in a well deserved encore. Of the orchestra, which comprised Messrs. Stone, flute, Sattels, violin, Noble, cornet, Miss Young, mandolin, Miss Hamlin and Emma Young, piano, it is difficult to speak in true praise without using seemingly extravagant language. Many numbers were exquisitely rendered and if it were possible to select one and praise it above the rest it might be said the quintette intermezzo "Cherries" struck home directly to the largest number of hearts and called forth a few additional rounds of applause. The attendance was large and refreshments were on sale after the concert. The whole affair was voted a grand success and the ladies had the pleasure of turning over to the Rev. Mr. Rumball the sum of $45.00 as the net proceeds of their labors.

On Friday a Stanwood family picnic and corn roast was held on the shore of Bear Pond and attended by about thirty of the family and friends. It was a genial, jovial and at times even uproarious jolly time, with so many good things to eat that well, it was fortunate there were some soda mints in the party!

In the evening was celebrated a unique entertainment very euphoniously styled a "Ball-Ball." Recognizing and appreciating the very great pleasure and enjoyment derived both by residents and visitors from the many hard fought and splendidly played ball games of the season and especially from the six sportsmanlike games between the Bolster's Mills and Waterford teams, a committee of gentlemen made up of Edgar Stone of Washington, J. S. Sattels of Plainfield, J. Monroe of Philadelphia, and W. W. Watson and F. A. Noble of Waterford, tendered to these two base ball clubs and their guests a complimentary dance in Grange Hall. Packard's Orchestra augmented by Messrs. Stone, Sattels and Jennie Hamlin willingly and freely tendered their services, giving such inspiring and delightful dance music as could not fail to fill all the participants with enthusiasm and even to bring some of the older people "up on their toes" with the rest. The ladies of the village in their usual willing and open-hearted way gave their ready assistance in furnishing a fine supper, which was heartily enjoyed by all. About thirty-five couples participated including a goodly number from Bolster's Mills headed by Dana Stewart, manager of the team, with Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Caswell, Messrs. Peckham, Clarke, Mr. "Shortstop" (whose other name has slipped by us, a thing the ball was never able to do with him) and others. A few words of welcome were spoken by a member of the committee, followed by a fitting and most appreciative response from Mr. Caswell of the Bolster's Mills club. Dancing was kept up till the early morning hours when all went away declaring it a jolly good time and one long to be remembered.

The Sawin family annual picnic took place on Saturday, September 1st, at Pappoose Pond and was well attended, about ninety being present, including a delegation of twenty from South Waterford, all of whom thoroughly enjoyed the day and expressed themselves as mightily glad they came.

On Saturday afternoon was played on the Flat grounds the final base ball game of the season, Norway vs. Waterford. Score 4 to 3 in favor of Waterford. A bully good game to wind up the year.

The week has been filled to the brim with good things and both hosts and guests have many jolly, happy times to remember.

will convene at the armory in Lewiston, Sept. 15, at 1:30 o'clock.

Merritt Welch was in town the first of the week. He has decided to move to Pepperell, Mass., for a while. He has recently been visiting Nathaniel Shattuck, a brother-in-law of his at that place. Merritt says he is going to hen farming.

Mrs. Geo. F. Cummings of Dorchester, Mass., has been visiting friends here and at West Paris and other places. She has now returned home. She tells us she reads the ADVERTISER carefully each week and thus keeps posted on the news in this section.

Mrs. Melvin B. Morey of North Waterford gave us a sample of the blackberries picked on her place. The size indicates that they were cultivated but we were told they grew wild. They have picked over a hundred quarts and sold some 80 quarts and earned 15 or more.

Albert Snow, son of Mrs. Eugene Le-broke, celebrated his 15th birthday anniversary on Friday evening by giving a party with about twenty of his young friends present. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream and cake served.

After the regular service at the Universalist church Sunday evening, the pastor, Rev. S. G. Davis, gave an interesting talk on the temperance question.
He spoke in favor of the prohibitory law remaining as it is and believes that the people should insist on still better enforcement of the law.

Letter to H. E. Andrews.
Norway, Maine.
Dear Sir: There's twice as much horse in one horse—it may be a mare as there is in two or three others together.

So with paints too. If a painter can do your job with 10 gallons Devoe for $50; it'll take 12, 15 or 20 of other paints; and the cost of a job is about $5 a gallon, whatever the paint may be.

There are paints adulterated three-quarters—only one quart of paint in a gallon—he's got to paint four gallons of rubbish to get one gallon of paint. The worst horse you've got is as good as that paint, and he'll go as far.

The less-gallons paint is the paint, as the most-horse horse is the horse.
Yours truly,
F. W. Devos & Co.,

Honeymoon at the Weymouth.
Wednesday, Aug. 29, at high noon, at the home of the bride's father in Waldoboro, occurred the marriage of Lulu L.
Stahl and Irving N. Horne of Portland, the ceremony being performed by Rev.
G. F. Sibley, under an arch of sweet peas and evergreen. The bride was daintily gowned in white crepe de chine over white silk with point lace trimmings and carried bride roses. There were no bridesmaids nor best man, but little Teresa Montgomery, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Montgomery of Thomaston, made a very charming flower girl and ringbearer.

Mr. Horne is a native of Norway, the Mass., before his return home. His sons are expecting to go to California on the 10th of this month.

Abigail Reynolds Glover.
Mrs. Abigail Reynolds Glover, who died Wednesday, Aug. 22, at the home of her son, Wm. E. Glover, and family at Livermore Falls, was 84 years of age and was born in Canton in 1832. She passed her girlhood days in that town and was educated in the Canton schools.
From there she moved to Auburn, where she remained several years, then went to Brockton, Mass., later going to Sumner in 1850. Here she married N. S.
Glover and in this town their happy married life was passed, until the death of her husband, who passed away 36 years ago.

From Sumner Mrs. Glover went to Melrose Highlands, and later to Cousins Island in Portland harbor, where her son John was living. About one year ago she went to Livermore Falls and passed the remainder of her days in the family of her son William.

The funeral services were held at the home, Friday afternoon, Rev. C. A.
Hayden of Augusta officiating. Undertaker P. A. Wing had charge of the obse-quies. The remains were taken to East Sumner for interment.

Deceased leaves to mourn their great loss, two sons, William R. Glover of Livermore Falls and George H. Glover of Melrose Highlands. Also nine grandchildren, Mrs. E. F. Beane, Mrs. F. M.
Green and Theda M. Glover, daughters of William R. Glover; Everett and La-Forest, sons of the late Nathan R. Glover of Brockton, Mass.; George C. and Myrtle F., children of George H. Glover of Melrose Highlands; Doris and Winfred, daughters of the late John S. Glover of Cousins Island, and one great-grand-child, Eugene William Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Beck of Livermore Falls. A brother, Silas Reynolds, who resided at Winthrop, also survives the deceased.

Help for Women Passing Through Change of Life

Providence has allotted us each at least seventy years in which to fulfill our mission in life, and it is generally our own fault if we die prematurely.

Nervous exhaustion invites disease.
This statement is the positive truth.
When everything becomes a burden and you cannot wait a few blocks without excessive fatigue, and you break out into perspiration, and your face flushes, and you grow excited and shaky at the least provocation, and you cannot bear to be crossed in anything, you are in danger; your nerves have given out; you need building up at once! To build up woman's nervous system and during the period of change of life we know of no better medicine than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is an illustration. Mrs. Mary L. Koehne, 371 Garfield Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years in my family and it never disappoints; so when I felt that I was needing the change of life I commenced to write to it. I took in all about six bottles and it did me a great deal of good. It stopped my dizzy spells, pains in my back and the headaches which I had suffered for months before taking the Compound. I feel that if it had not been for this great medicine I should not have been alive to-day.
It is splendid for women old or young, and will surely cure all female disorders."

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick and ailing women to write her for advice. Her great experience is at their service, free of cost.

profuse and beautiful flowers were a pillow, 67 pinks, an elegant ivy wreath with flowers attached bearing the letters P. of H. on satin ribbon.

He leaves a wife and only daughter, Mrs. W. T. S. Morrison of Westbrook; two brothers, E. M. Nevers of Wakefield, N. H., and J. W. Nevers of Stoneham, Mass.; one sister, Susan W. Nevers also of Stoneham.

The body was taken to Riverside cemetery, Cornish, for burial, where a short service was held conducted by A. P.
Copp, with Rev. O. W. Peterson, pastor of the Congregational church, as the officiating minister.

Mr. Nevers was born in Sweden, being the youngest son of John and Elmira Nevers. When but 18 years old he went to Boston for employment, where he worked on a salt team. He also worked in Stoneham and in Lynn in the shoe business. When the Civil War broke out he returned to Sweden and at once enlisted in the 5th Maine Battery and during his three years' service was in 18 engagements.

When the war closed he settled in Cornish and engaged in the jewelry and watch repairing business with his brother Charles. After a few years he bought his brother out and continued the business for nearly 30 years. In 1877 he built one-half of Central Block, greatly increasing his stock of jewelry, added silverware, fruit, confectionery and Christmas goods, etc. Mr. Nevers was successful in business from the start.

He was a Free Mason, a Grand Army man and for six years postmaster at Cornish.

In 1895 he retired from active business and bought a small farm in South Waterford, where the remaining years of his life were passed.

He was a kind husband, an indulgent father, a man of sterling worth and in his death, Waterford loses one of its best citizens.

Mrs. Etta Whitcomb visited at Miss Chaplin's recently.

pany of Waterford and Sweden

Housekeepers

have been vexed when using cream of tartar and soda to find their work uneven. If sometimes good, at others the biscuit and cake will be heavy or sour or full of lumps of soda that set the teeth on edge. Flour, eggs and butter wasted: This is because the cream of tartar is adulterated or cannot be used in the proper proportions.

A Day at Pappoose.

Clarence Austin took a party of 21 to Pappoose pond, Aug. 28th. It was a lovely ride in a hayrack, a fine day for swimming and boating, and a good time for all. Ages ranged from 2 to 70. A fire built on the beach, potatoes roasted in the ground, steak broiled over the coals were some of the pleasant features of the day. The children splashed and waded and gathered clams galore.

EAST STONEHAM.

Improvements.

H. M. Parker's dwelling house has been newly shingled. It proved to be a warm job, first, because the weather was so very hot, and again because of horns. When the workmen began ripping off the old shingles, they were assailed by a swarm of horns which manifested their displeasure, stung some of the men quite severely before being subdued. There was a nest of them in each gable of the house, but hot water skillfully administered, soothed their ambitions and the shingling was accomplished.

Albert Littlefield is having his doorway enlarged and graded. The past week stone has been hauled to fill in and level up, so to form a terrace. When finished, it will be a great improvement, but it takes a pile of stone and is a good market for old boulders that have long been a nuisance to the farmers.

G. A. R. Hall has been reshingled of late.

Hazel Butters has gone back to Millinocket.

The outlet to the ponds has been screened to prevent the fish from escaping, and it is the intention now, to put in an additional supply of salmon this fall.

Holden Reunion.

The annual reunion of the descendants of the late David Ray and Louisa Lovejoy Holden was held at the old home site on Crooked river, near, where the old pulp mill once stood.

At 11 o'clock an address of welcome was delivered by the president Henry O. Holden, followed by a prayer. At noon a basket picnic was partaken of and at 2:30 p. m. was held the annual, business meeting at which the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Henry O. Holden.
1st V. Pres.—Mrs. Josephine Holden.
2d V. Pres.—Mrs. Esther M. Cushman.
Rec. Sec.—Mrs. Della E. Giles.
Ass. Sec.—Mrs. A. A. Everett.
Treas.—Chester O. Holden.
Com. on Entertainment.—Herman L. Hill, Paul R. Holden, Lewis Merrill.

Games were played by the young folks which, with music and other amusements, caused the time to pass all too quickly. About 54 were present including relatives from Lynn, Mass., Waterford, Hebron, Mount Vernon and Norway, and all enjoyed a very pleasant day.
